

Dear fellow members of the NSP

It is an honor to have been chosen as a candidate for the 2020/21 Board of Directors Elections. Being a patroller for the past 10 years has been one of the most rewarding and valuable experiences of my lifetime. Now, having the opportunity to represent all my fellow patrollers as a member of the Board, I'm excited to take what I've learned over the years and plug-in my career expertise to add even more value to our already incredible organization. I'm going to keep my campaign platform very simple. If elected, my primary objective will focus on modernizing the technology practices of the NSP. With over 25 years working as a Senior Manager/Director working with technology companies such as Yahoo, Google, and Amazon, I currently hold a role as a Senior Director/Manager for one of the most capable technology companies in the country. My primary role focuses on both high-level and deep-dive assessments of current technology practices and working with companies to help them find a better way to use software, agile engineering, microservices, website/mobile applications, e-commerce, cloud/cloud migration, online education resource building, social media/ social media marketing, SEO, data analytics, to name a few. (See www.Kenzan.com for context). I'm confident my experience with the NSP as a Senior Pro Patroller, married with my many years as a Technology Consultant/Senior Director will allow the NSP to leverage my position as a Board Member and take our organization to the next level. With the above stated, I will also leverage my experience in networking and partnership relations to drive campaigns to sign more partners to the NSP Partnership page. I'll focus the relationship on providing value to the company as a "friend of the NSP" while leveraging the relationship for fundraising and deeper discounts and offerings to our members. While I hope to have described my primary focus and objectives above, I also plan on plugging in my passion and love for the NSP into many causes including supporting continuing education, promoting online resources, reviewing current and ongoing policies and procedures and working with all of you to ensure we are growing in the right direction. While I come from the East Coast and currently spending my time in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado, we are all one Patrol! I look forward to doing my absolute best to represent each and every Patrol and Patroller and offer my availability to talk with each and every patroller should you have an idea, question, or concern. Again, thank you for your time, consideration, and support.
